More Campus History

The Texas-Mexico (TM) Division of the Bankhead Highway through this area from the early 1920's up to the time of Camp Fannin. In its final years, the road apparently became part of the Camp Fannin street grid. The roadway through this area was said to be state-of-the-art for its day. The TM Division was started as a branch of the Bankhead Highway (the first paved transcontinental highway in the U.S.) at the urging of northeast Texas leaders. It went from Mt. Pleasant to Laredo (and possibly on to Mexico City) via Starrville, Winona, Tyler, and Waco.
