Library Status

The Library remains closed through at least October 31. Please call 2865 or email library@uthct.edu. The Library staff is able to provide most services, and of course our many online resources are available at the Library's landing page (www.uthct.edu/library) for those who are logged on to the network either on or off campus.

COVID-19 Information Resources

The Library staff has been working to keep you informed about the latest developments related to COVID-19 and the coronavirus that causes it.

First, the Library maintains the UTSHCT COVID-19 Academic Medical Resources web page that is linked from the Coronavirus (COVID-19) Information page at <https://www.uthct.edu/coronavirus-info>.

The page contains links to numerous resources on COVID-19, including those that various publishers have made freely available during the pandemic.

Second, the Library has been distributing a daily list of selected references on COVID-19.

Lastly, the Library provides tailored bibliographies on COVID-19 topics upon request.

JoVE (Journal of Visualized Experiments)

The Library has access to the following sections of JoVE:

- JoVE* behavior

JoVE is indexed in and linked from Pubmed and Google Scholar as linked from the Library's web landing page. The official NLM title abbreviation that will show in PubMed is J Vis Exp. Some content in sections we don't subscribe to is available free. Interlibrary loan of articles from JoVE is not possible, and JoVE does not offer a pay-per-view option.
